THROUGH INSTRUCTION . . . The Student at Southern Illinois University is instructed how to think, rather than what to think. Although much time is spent on a major subject, one is able to receive enough of a liberal education to enjoy a common interest with people of different professions.

However, when the Student graduates, he is no longer just a part of the student body. He is an individual well qualified for his chosen profession, who knows what he wants, and how he can best pursue this course. He emerges from the mass at Southern . . .

Spring of '58

SPRING FESTIVAL

Miss Southern, Joann Ranek, pictured with mistress of ceremonies, Pat Cook, won out over 18 other SIU lovelies.

The theme of the 1958 Spring Festival was "Dizzyland." The campus was decorated with replica of "Fantasy Land" such as spaceships and nursery stories. The Midway was brightly decorated for a few hours. Then the rains came.

Highlighting Spring Festival festivities was the crowning of Joann Ranek of Edwardsville as Miss Southern.

Theta Xi's and their award winning act, "Snow White and Seven Dwarfs" of the Vaudeville Show.

Entertainment for the Spring Festival included a Vaudeville Show made up of all school talent and a stage show with professional stars. The theme of the vaudeville show was "Fantasy Land." Acts such as "Aladdin and His Lamp," "Cinderella," and "The Dance of the Pink Elephants" were among the show. Theta Xi's own rendition of "Snow White and Seven Dwarfs" won first place among the group acts. Individual acts were presented by Rosemary Staudt, Zella Burton, Margie Flinn, Donna Freece and Bobbie Jones. Two comedy routines and a quartette composed the individual competition. The Angelettes and the Angelaires provided non-competitive entertainment.

The stage show starred 'Peg Leg' Bates, a one legged tap dancer and Dick Cisne and his orchestra. 'Peg Leg' has performed on the stages of the Palladium in London, and the Radio City Music Hall in New York. Dick Cisne is a former SIU student and has been a resident of Carbondale most of his life. Also on the program was a musical act by Ken Whitmer and Jean Marshall. The orchestra played later in the evening at the Spring Festival Dance at Thompson Point. The theme of the dance was "Dreamland." Jack Herbert was the master of ceremonies. After the dance a late supper was provided at "Goodyland."

'Peg Leg' Bates amazed the crowd with the dexterity of his dancing.

SPRING FESTIVAL

No, Joann Ranek is not crowning herself Miss Southern. The camera caught Anita Credi Young, Miss Southern of 1957, directly behind Miss Ranek. Looking on are runner-ups Rosalie Stein, Judy Sirls, Sharon Neilson, and Sonnie Kirk.

John P. Murphy won the SIU Ugly Man Contest.

Three tries for a dime to lynch the lawless.

The midway became a waterway.

The Midway, under the management of Sherwin Adelman and Pat Majors, had as its theme "Frontierland." After all groups had their booths in place and ready, the rains washed away many hours of work in a few minutes. The winning booth on the midway was Bailey Hall with their booth, "The Grand Ole Opry House." The rains continued to flood the midway and anything else in its path.

The Aquacttes presented "Aquatic Abstracts" at the University School Pool. Their theme was based on the various emotions experienced during happy or sad periods.

Out of the twelve ugly man candidates, John P. Murphy was voted the most ugly of all. It is rumored that John has tried every trick available to look human without success.

The Aquacttes form a wheel in their water ballet, "Aquatic Abstracts."

LIBRARY DEDICATION

Governor William G. Stratton and President Delyte W. Morris visit with an unidentified woman while touring the library.

The Library was formally dedicated April 25 and 26, 1958. Attending the dedication were Gov. and Mrs. William G. Stratton. Mrs. Stratton formally dedicated the statement of objectives of the University as defined by the Board of Trustees. The objectives were mounted on the wall facing the main entrance.

The statement is:

Southern Illinois University, established 1869, To EXALT BEAUTY in God, in nature, and in Art; teaching how to love the best but to keep the human touch;

To ADVANCE LEARNING in all line of truth wherever they may lead, showing how to think rather than what to think, assisting the powers of the mind in their self-development;

To FORWARD IDEAS AND IDEALS in our democracy, inspiring respect for others as for ourselves, ever promoting freedom with responsibility.

To BECOME A CENTER OF ORDER AND LIGHT that knowledge may lead to understanding and understanding to wisdom.

Members of the committee who drew up the objectives are Mr. Aubrey J. Holmes ('34), representing the alumni; Honorable Vernon L. Nickell, representing the trustees; and Professor Charles D. Tenny, representing the university staff.

The First Lady of the State, Mrs. William G. Stratton.

Dr. Ralph E. McCoy, director of libraries, presents Mrs. Stratton with a painting of the Library.

Southern's third annual Festival of Fine Arts brought together a series of lectures, concerts, exhibitions, dramas and operas reflecting the inter-relationship of the Fine Arts on the University Campus. The work of Toulouse-Lautrec (upper left), a French painter and lithographer, opened the festival. The display was on exhibition in the Allyn Building. The letters, art and criticisms of D. H. Lawrence (right) were on display in the Library. A modern dance concert was given by the Henry Street Playhouse (bottom), a nationally known dance company.

FINE ARTS FESTIVAL

Mlle. Nadia Boulanger, distinguished teacher of musical composition was the lecturer in a series of seminars and student composers symposia. Miss Boulanger was awarded an honorary Doctor of Music degree by the University at a special convocation and testimonial dinner.

The Modern Dance Club of SIU presented its annual spring concert during the Fine Arts Festival.

Fine Arts

Deems Taylor (upper left), noted composer, critic and author lectured twice during the Fine Arts Festival. Mr. Taylor's subject at Freshman Convocation was "From a Composer's Notebook" and later that evening in the Morris Library Auditorium he discussed "Today in the World of Music." The University Symphony and Choral Union (bottom) presented a concert in Shryock Auditorium.

The ninth annual "Music Under the Stars" program was held in Shryock Auditorium. The symphony orchestra played selections from "Showboat" and the high school chorus sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic" with orchestra accompaniment. Thomas L. Thomas was the guest artist.

MUSIC FESTIVAL

Thomas L. Thomas (left), vocal star of radio and television and regularly featured artist on the "Voice of Firestone", was scheduled to sing five numbers. However, he sang thirteen in response to the enthusiasm displayed by the audience. Among his selections were "The Marriage of Figaro", "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," and "Greensleeve."

Upon receiving the diploma, the graduate will leave Southern but he will carry the ideas gained with him through life.

Commencement

Carol Cockrum Walker is commissioned as SIU's first woman graduate of the ROTC program.

Some of the first leis seen in Southern Illinois were brought in by Mrs. Miyahia, seen here congratulating her daughter, Edith Miyahia.

In an address stressing the theme of tolerance, Governor William G. Stratton told SIU's largest graduating class to carry their greatest asset—"Open mindedness"—into the world. Shortly after speaking to the 848 spring graduates the Governor was awarded the honorary Doctor of Laws degree by President Delyte W. Morris.

Dr. Frances Henry Horn, president of the University of Rhode Island, addressed the SIU graduates of the Summer Session. Dr. Horn, before being named president of the University of Rhode Island, was a distinguished visiting professor at Southern.

Andrew Carnes—Jim Patterson, Curley—Bob Green, Laurey—Delores Dollens, and Aunt Eller—Jane Green, all join in on the finale "Oklahoma."

SUMMER '58

Opera, Concerts,

were Highlighted

Curley and Laurey depart in the surrey "without" the fringe on top.

Kay Sue Eadie as Ado Annie tells the audience that she "just can't say no."

The annual summer stock's make-up department of Southern Players moved outdoors at Kelso Hollow Theater in New Salem State Park near Springfield.

Instructors and students had a busy summer working with physically handicapped children at Little Grassy Lake. Most of the student assistants also carried a full load of academic courses.

Warm summer nights and candle lighted tables contributed atmosphere to the three informal concerts of SIU's Summer Pop Orchestra on the Woody Hall patio.

Perfect weather and good company highlighted the traditional all school picnic, one of the largest social events of the summer session. Good food brings out the best in everyone and this picnic had plenty. Everyone lost their symptoms of that dread disease "mid-term lag" and really fell into the swing of things by enjoying the day at the reservoir.

Summer School students take a break to enjoy watermelon furnished by the Union.

Summer 1958

Summer Session is not all watermelon feasts, picnics, and play. However, Summer term is attracting greater enrollment, and more and more nine-months students are becoming summer students.

Statistics show that the number of students who attended Southern during the fourth quarter has increased 165% since 1952. There were 4,054 enrolled, compared to 1,529 in 1952.

June 24, 1958, the Board of Trustees of the University voted unanimously to name the SIU Library—Morris Library. Establishment of a permanent four-year program by Southern in the Madison-St. Clair area of Illinois moved forward during the summer. Also, options were taken on two possible sites near Edwardsville.

The fourth annual National Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors was held at Giant City Park July 14-19. J. Wilcox Dunn, editor and publisher of The Princess Anne Free Press, Virginia Beach, Virginia, was named recipient of the 1958 Elijah P. Lovejoy Award for courage in journalism.

Students Return

Students return (or come for the first time) to Southern. Those coming on the train were welcomed by a New Student Week Committee. After arriving at their home away from home, they begin the tremendous job of unpacking and putting away. Freshman are kept busy attending meetings to become acquainted with the University and its policies.

Wheel's Night, a chance for New Students to get acquainted with Southern's organizations, was held in the Agriculture Building. The Greek organizations served refreshments for the new students.

The freshmen and upperclassmen competed in a tug-of-war. If the freshmen won, they would not have to wear beanies. After repairing the rope the upperclassmen lost and the beanies disappeared from the campus.

Dean John Grinnell, from the College of Education, extended a hand to parents of new students at the Parent's Day Picnic. Because of rain the picnic was held in the University Cafeteria. The picnic ended the New Student Week activities for the fall, 1958.

Homecoming

Her majesty, Marie Holifield, of Brookport.

Over 15,000 people participated in the 1958 Homecoming. Even before the opening session Thursday, October 30, the campus showed festive spirits with groups working on housing decorations and floats. On Thursday evening, Marie Holifield, senior from Brookport, was crowned queen by the legendary King Menes. The Queen's attendants were Pat Majors and Donna Schuchard and her court was comprised of Bobbie Jones, Barbara King, Mag Coury and Carole Chambliss. Miss Holifield reigned over Homecoming activities and was presented to the 1600 guests at the Homecoming Dance in the Armory Saturday night.

The Friday night rain which ruined some of the house decorations did nothing to dampen the spirits of the 12,000 fans who watched the Salukis defeat the Washington and Lee Generals 36-7. Many of the guests for the game came to Carbondale early Saturday morning to watch the parade. Thirty-six high school bands participated in the traditional parade, which had as its theme "Southern in Stride". Shryock Auditorium was packed for the two shows presented by Sarah Vaughn, Henry Youngman, and the Kai Winding sextet. Ray McKinley's Glenn Miller band highlighted the dance with Miller standards. Singers Lorrie Peters and Ronnie Craig accompanied the 19-piece band. Dancing moved to the street when an anonymous phone call telling of a planted bomb in the Armory was received. Dancing resumed after a search by Carbondale police and officers.

The traditional homecoming mums, sponsored by Girls Rally, were picked up by the men for their dates and wives at the main gate.

Fans saw some thrilling plays as the Salukis defeated the Washington & Lee Generals in the first homecoming win in several years.

After her presentation, queen Marie Holifield and court dance the queen's dance as guests look on.

After working all night on their mechanical robot which spat fire and had smoke coming from its head, Pierce Hall's effort was rewarded by winning first place in the parade.

Sigma Sigma Sigma's winning float "Southern Branches" depicted the residence centers at East St. Louis, Alton and Edwardsville.

Alpha Gamma Delta won first place in house decorations for the third consecutive year.

Sarah Vaughn signs an autograph for Amanda Daniel and Ferdinand Shaw after the completion of the Homecoming stage show.

The Kai Winding Sextet gave several interpretations of progressive jazz at the concert held in Shryock before the dance.

The Dance brought the 1958 Homecoming to a close, but it will be a long time before it will be forgotten by anyone who had a part in Homecoming—and almost every one did. Who will forget the giant man who was propped against a tree because his legs broke as he was placed in front of Old Main? And the committee and organization members who worked night after night on floats and house decorations only to see the rain come and the work done again. But the work was done again, for this is the determination and spirit that Southern shows, in either work or play.

Theta Xi's first place Homecoming house decorations depicted the growth of Southern through 1965.

Crowds gathered along University avenue to see the largest parade in Southern's history.

Director Carmine Ficocello led the Symphony Orchestra in the third of the orchestra's annual Carbondale series. Fred Denker highlighted the program with the performance of Beethoven's Empiria Piano Concerto.

Concerts

The Southern Illinois University Symphony Orchestra presented a series of concerts throughout the year attended by students and townspeople.

In cooperation with the Student Union, the Summer Symphony Orchestra presented several concerts on the Woody Hall Patio.

The Sinfonietta, composed of the elite members of the Symphony Orchestra, performed at a special concert of chamber orchestra music in Shryock Auditorium.

The University Concert Band is one of several groups which comprise the total University Band Organization.

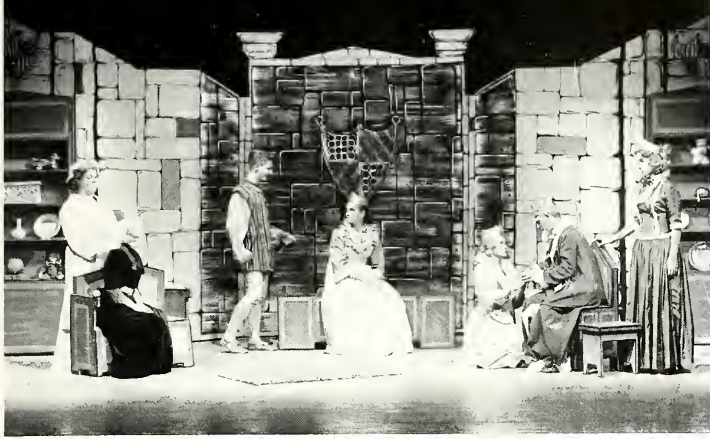

At the Pulitzer prize-winning play, Harvey, first nighters enjoy a cup of coffee and a cigarette during intermission.

"Fair is foul, and foul is fair. . . ." The witches opening lines are an example of the suspense and horror that thrilled the audience of Macbeth.

The Play's the Thing

After playing in the Little Theatre, "Charley's Aunt" with the children's play "Sleeping Beauty" went on tour in 27 communities in southern and central Illinois. The players performed to over 50,000 people.

"The Shoes That Were Danced to Pieces" was one of the three children's plays of the season. It was written by Dorothy Beck, an SIU graduate student, as part of her work toward her master's degree.

Dr. Sherwin Abrams briefs the cast of "Major Barbara," Homecoming play. The play was enjoyed by many alumni as they visited Southern during Homecoming.

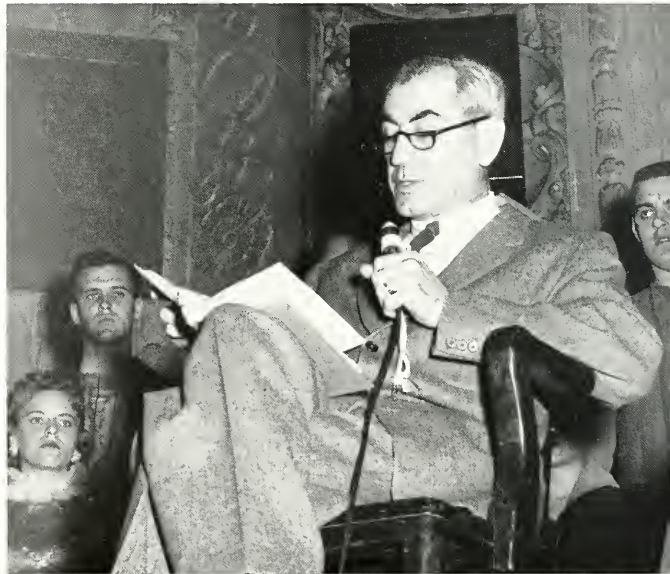

Little Theater audiences acknowledged "Macbeth" as the best Shakespearean presentation of the Southern Players.

Bailey Hall won first place in the Student Christian Foundation's contest for the best Christmas decorations of the living groups.

Christmas Activities

The Christmas Story, supported by the Madrigal Singers, is one of the Christmas Week traditions.

Christmas spirits were high, but it was only apple cider at President and Mrs. Morris' Doughnut Hour.

Woody Hall's nativity scene won second place in the Student Christian Foundation's house decoration contest.

Students at the Deck the Halls Party transformed the Union into a miniature North Pole and were rewarded for their efforts by the Flaming Pudding Party sponsored by the Off-Campus Presidents Council.

Third place in the decoration contest went to Theta Xi fraternity for their Christmas card scene of a Family at Christmas Time.

The eighth annual "Christmas Capers" week began Sunday, December 7 with the presentation of Bach's "Magnificat" by the University Choir and SIU Symphony. President and Mrs. Delyte W. Morris were host and hostess for a doughnut hour at the Student Union. The annual Christmas assembly on Thursday featured the traditional reading of the Christmas story by President Morris and the music of Singing Squadron, the University choir and orchestra and the Madrigals. A Christmas Sing was held on University School Lawn December 12 followed by the Deck the Halls Party and Flaming Pudding Party. The next day the Christmas Week Dance, "Frozen Frolics" was held at Lentz Hall. Christmas week was closed by the Christmas Concert presented by the University Choir Sunday.

MILITARY BALL

A new tradition began at Southern as President and Mrs. Morris led the Cadet Wing and their dates in the first Grand March of the Military Ball.

The 1959 Military Ball, Wings Over Southern, featured the Jimmy Dorsey orchestra led by Lee Castle. Before the dance, the orchestra gave a concert of standard Dorsey renditions in Shryock Auditorium.

The lovely Miss Barbara Larkin is crowned by the retiring queen, Miss Joan Pratte, whose gown is a Benham Original, a gift of the R.O.T.C. Wing.

Bill Berry, Yvonne Anton, President Morris and Ken Dry break the ground for the new four million dollar Union on March 13, 1959.

The Union sponsored Saturday afternoon record dances for students who wanted a break from books.

Student Union Events

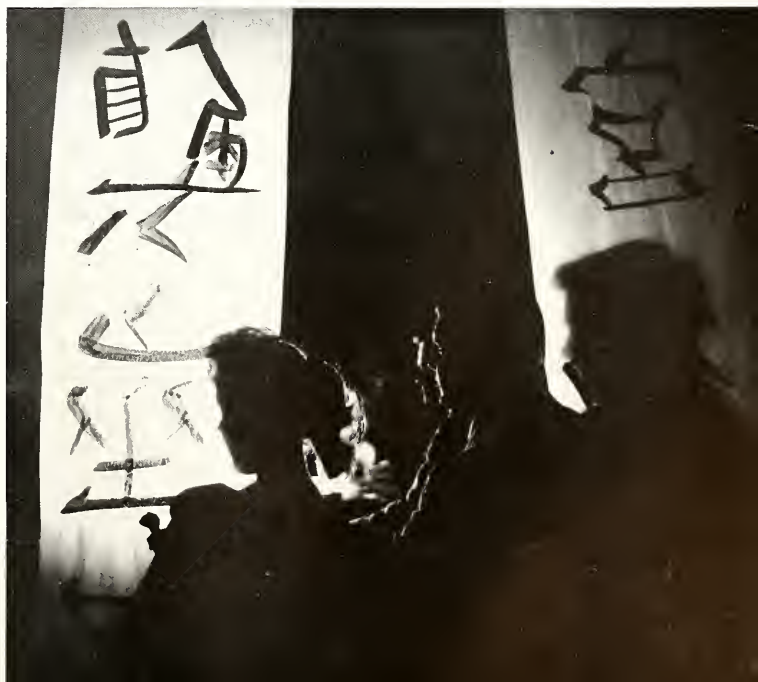

Amid a supper club atmosphere, guests at the Union's date night smorgasbord enjoyed a floor show accentuated by Southern's top talent.

A popular singing group on campus, the Blue Tones, won first in the small group competition in the first annual Harmony Show.

Sigma Pi captured the barbershop quartet prize for their renditions of "Down by the Riverside" and "I Want a Gal."

One of the unusual Union events was the Chinese supper sponsored by the Chinese Students Club. Decorations and entertainment were in the Chinese style.

A choral reading by the men of Bailey Hall concerning the creation of man captured the first place group trophy.

Bruce Hayward, popular St. Louis disc jockey, was master of ceremonies for the two nights. Hayward has been on radio for 15 years.

Theta Xi Variety Show

The twelfth annual Theta Xi Variety Show was held March 6 and 7 in Shryock Auditorium. Bruce Hayward of KMOX radio was the master of ceremonies. Eighteen acts comprised the competition for the show plus the Southern All-Stars, who entertained before the show and during intermission, and the Theta Xi Pledge Act.

Following the Friday night performance President Morris presented the Service to Southern awards to Linda Adams and Jim Connell. Co-chairmen of the variety show, Brian Merriman and Sam Meyer, presented the trophies to Bailey Hall, Newman Club, and Pi Kappa Sigma sorority for the group competition and to June Nightwine and John Wilkinson and the Kappalers for the individual acts after the Saturday night performance.

"Salute to the Blues", featuring Lynda Love, by Sigma Kappa sorority added a touch of Broadway to the Variety Show.

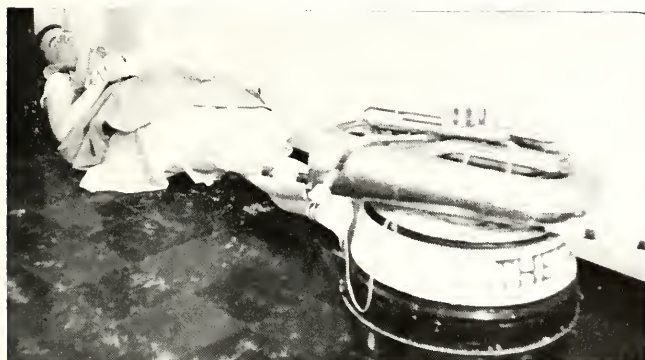

Newman Club won second place with their presentation of "Julius Saluki", a satire on Julius Caesar depicting Julius going to Student Senate for "chariots" on campus.

The first place individual trophy was won by June Nightwine and John Wilkinson for their vocal duet from the score of Porgy and Bess.

A Theta Xi pledge catches up on lost sleep backstage at Shyroek Auditorium awaiting his turn to go on for the traditional pledge act.

The Theta Xi pledge act completed the evening's entertainment with a take off on "Ding Dong School". After the act Saturday evening Shyroek's curtain fell to the floor.

The University Choir and Madrigal Singers presented a concert of Italian composers, Antonio Caldara and Giovanni Gabrieli.

Fine Arts Festival

The 1959 Fine Arts Festival exhibit was changed to January 18 through February 28 instead of the usual spring term. The festival used as a motif, the art of Italy, a country which, past and present, has perhaps most clearly displayed an irrepressible and inspired artistic productivity.

The opening program was presented in Shryock Auditorium with addresses by President Delyte Morris, Dean Burnett Shryock, and Vice-president Charles Tenney. After the program a simultaneous opening of two exhibits was held. Contemporary Italian Prints were shown in the Allyn Gallery, and items from the William Marberry Collection of handicrafts, posters, and books were shown in Altgeld Museum.

Mrs. Sybil Moholy-Nagy, an expert in design and architectural history was the first lecturer of the Festival. She gave a background history of Italian contributions to art and architecture and urged people to restore their visual self-confidence and to realize that they do not have to accept each piece of modern art.

A Community Concert event was Mozart's Concert Opera Group which presented "Cosi Fan Tutti." Six of America's outstanding singers combined their talents to present the Mozart masterpiece. Another first for Southern was the American premier of Gian Malipiero's "Sialoghi". The Austrian violinist, Ernst Wallfisch, who accompanied the SIU Symphony Orchestra, had presented Malipiero's composition in Paris last year when it was written. Another top presentation was the "Three Centuries of Italian Music" given by the Antique Players. The Players nationally known as concert, television and recording artists in the field of early music, played a repertoire covering Italian music ranging from the 14th through the 17th century. Other music programs were the SIU's Opera Workshop production of Menotti's "The Telephone" and an organ recital by Carl Wenrich. Wenrich has taught at various colleges, including Wellesley, Vassar and Columbia, given recitals at Harvard as Lamb Visiting Lecturer and recorded all the Bach organ works at the Church of Our Lady in Skanninge, Sweden.

Many renowned lecturers were on campus during the festival. They included Dr. Leste Longman, University of California; Dr. Walker Starkie, lecturer, author, musician; Peppino Mangravite, painter, and chairman of Graduate Art Department, Columbia University; and John Ciardi, poet, educator and poetry editor of Saturday Review of Literature.

The first annual Fine Arts Ball was held in Lentz Hall. The theme Italian Nights, was shown by the decorations in the style of the three Italian cities of Rome, Venice, and Florence. Ball guests went through customs exchange office where their money was exchanged for Italian coins acquired from a New York bank.

Described by the New York Herald Tribune as the finest string quartet our century has known, the Quartetto Italiano gave a thrilling performance at their Chamber Music Concert.

The cynical bachelor, Don Alfonso, from a scene of "Women are like That," tells Fiordiligi and Dorabella, that the two Army officers to whom they are engaged, have gone off to war.

Singer Bob Green was one of the performers at the first Italian Nights Ball which was held at Leutz Hall.

Administration

President Delyte W. Morris pictured before the Morris Library named in his honor June 24, 1958. Morris Library is only one of the many new buildings which show Southern's growth since President Morris came to SIU in 1948. Coinciding with the physical growth has been the rapid academic growth. A doctoral program was approved by the Board of Trustees on November 3, 1955. This program is now being offered by many departments of the University.

Dr. Charles D. Tenny, vice-president for instruction has been with Southern for 28 years.

Dr. George H. Hand, vice-president in charge of business affairs, came to Southern in 1951.

College of EDUCATION

In cooperation with other colleges and schools of the University, the College of Education prepares for State certified teachers in all regular school fields of instruction and many special fields. Coaches, physical education teachers, guidance counselors, teachers for the handicapped and other specialists are among those being prepared for important positions in Illinois and elsewhere. Graduate curriculums in college counseling, school administration, library service, instructional materials and junior, senior college teaching and administration lead to some of the many careers for interested students.

The College engages in continuous evaluation of its programs and services, and continually encourages in service teachers and administrators to call on the College for workshops, surveys, or conferences for teachers.

John E. Grinnell

Education of mentally retarded adolescents is one of the important new programs being offered by the College in its ever-widening scope of study.

Conducted in the University Pool, swimming is one of the most interesting instructional courses for kindergarten majors.

Dr. Arthur Lean relates some experiences of his summer tour of Russia, when the controversial subject of Russian education was discussed in advanced education courses.

College of

LIBERAL ARTS AND SCIENCES

It has been said, "To the Liberal Arts Colleges fall the infinitely difficult tasks of fitting new knowledge into the context of all that men have thought and learned over centuries and of presenting it to young men and women in a form or pattern which will make more effective persons and more useful citizens."

Southern's own College of Liberal Arts and Sciences fulfills this statement, while keeping in mind that the fundamental goal is the well-rounded development of the individual, by providing courses to fulfill general University requirements for all students regardless of major.

The College has the largest number of both departments and faculty members in the University. The College grants a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Master of Arts or Master of Sciences degree in each department.

Assistants in the Public Research Bureau receive college credit for the research work they do on governmental areas of state and local concern.

The new electron microscope, available to students and faculty for research work, magnifies in much the same way an image is produced on a television screen.

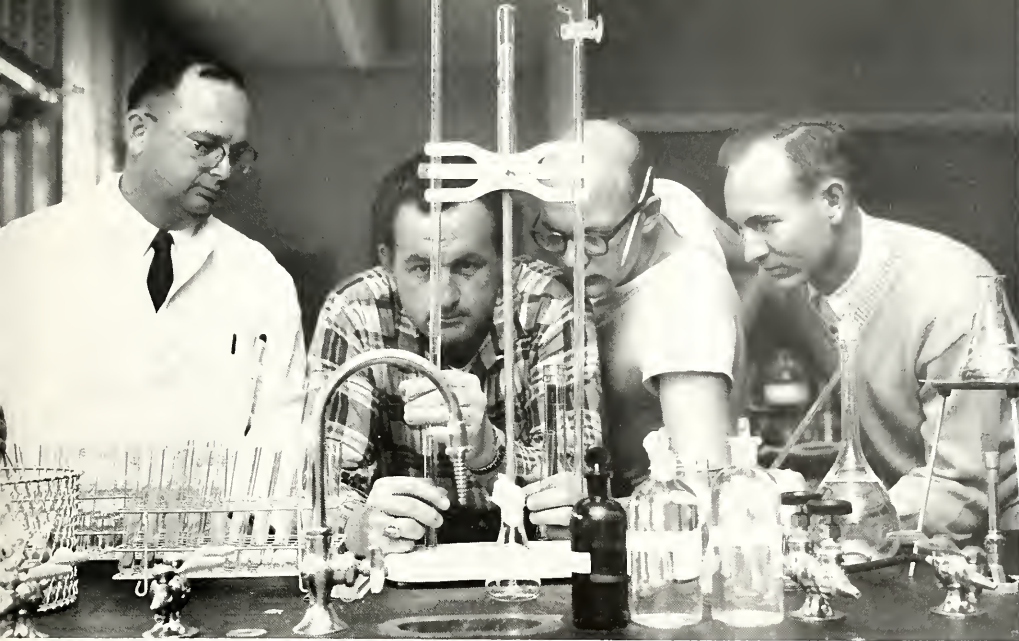

Wendell E. Keepper

So swift are the forward strides in agriculture at Southern that returning graduates gape in wonder. A 38 per cent enrollment increase this year in the School of Agriculture is a tribute to its improved physical facilities and to the broadening and strengthening of its teaching and research programs.

Preparing students for ever-widening career opportunities in agriculture and its related fields is the principle concern of the School. Providing new information for improving area agriculture through research, consultation, and adult education also receives attention.

The School of Agriculture has four departments: Agriculture Industries, Animal Industries, Forestry, and Plant Industries. In 1958, the School also was approved for training of vocational agriculture instructors.

School of AGRICULTURE

Three graduate students receive advanced instruction in research techniques. The School provides graduate programs toward a Master of Science degree in Agricultural Industries, Animal Industries and Plant Industries.

Many types of part-time work on the School of Agriculture's experimental farms assist students with their schooling expenses and provide learning experience.

Under the newly activated four-year degree program in Forestry, students do mensuration class work on a laboratory problem in forestry measurement.

School of

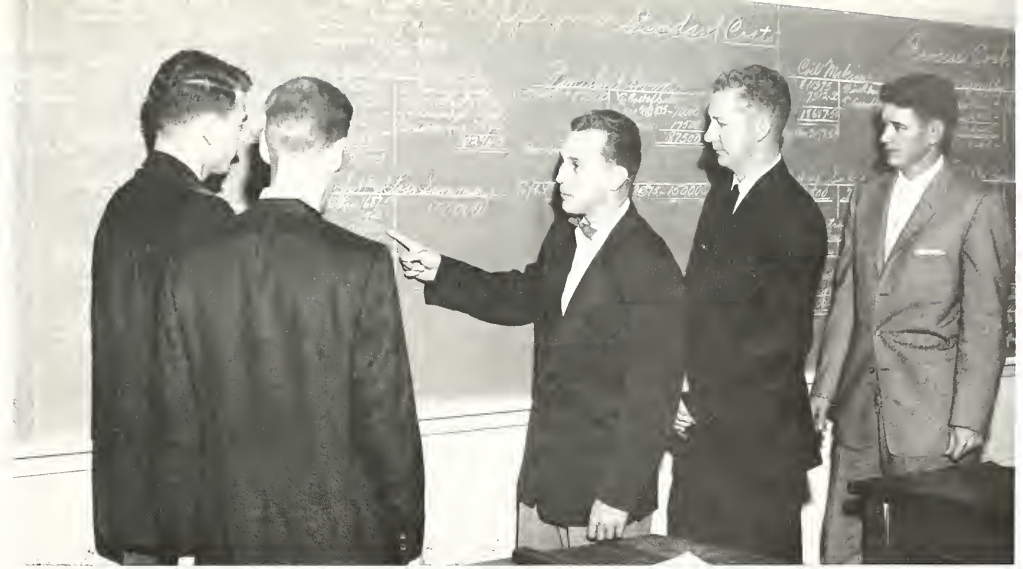

BUSINESS

A quarterly Business Bulletin, published by the Business Research Bureau, is one of the many functions of the School of Business. The School offers education for business through a series of four-year programs leading to a Bachelor of Science degree and a series of programs leading to a Master of Science degree. It attracts an increasing number of business representatives here to interview students for a large variety of positions.

The programs offered are in five fields: Accounting, leading to either public or private accounting; Economics, with special programs for General Economics; Banking, Public Finance, Labor, Foreign Trade and Economic Theory; Management with special programs in General Management, Personnel Management and Finance; Marketing; and Secretarial and Business Education.

Henry J. Rehn

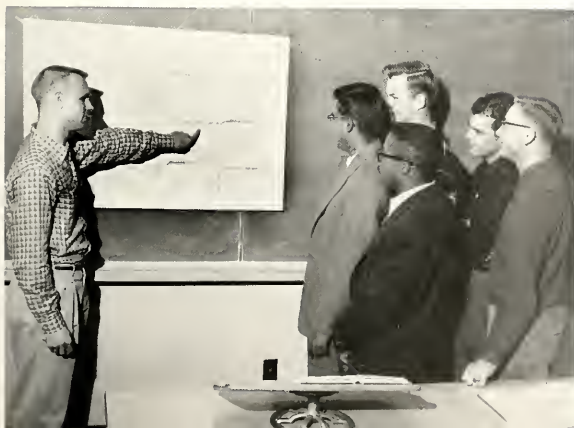

Accounting students trace the costs of manufacturing products and processes through the accounting cycle.

Beginning business students receive a general knowledge of the modern business world and a better basis for choosing their specialty through Introduction to Business.

Students in Economic History of the United States use charts in their discussion of the development of the business cycle and the United States' position in the cycle.

School of

COMMUNICATIONS

The July addition of the Department of Printing and Photography, with Dr. John Mercer as acting chairman, completed the organization of the School of Communications. The purposes of the school are to co-ordinate and facilitate the development of programs, to provide instruction and stimulate research in the effective use of communication media, and to provide service work for other educational units which desire it.

The new radio station, WSRV, provides practical training for students in communication. It also provides the area with news, entertainment, and general information about the University. The School of Communications is currently conducting a research program in a speech correction mobile laboratory on the perceptual abilities of mentally retarded children.

C. Horton Talley

A speech discussion class is beneficial to majors in all fields in that it educates the student in the methods of expressing himself in the most clear, concise, understandable manner.

A speech correction therapist makes use of the senses of sound, touch, and sight in teaching children with speech and hearing defects.

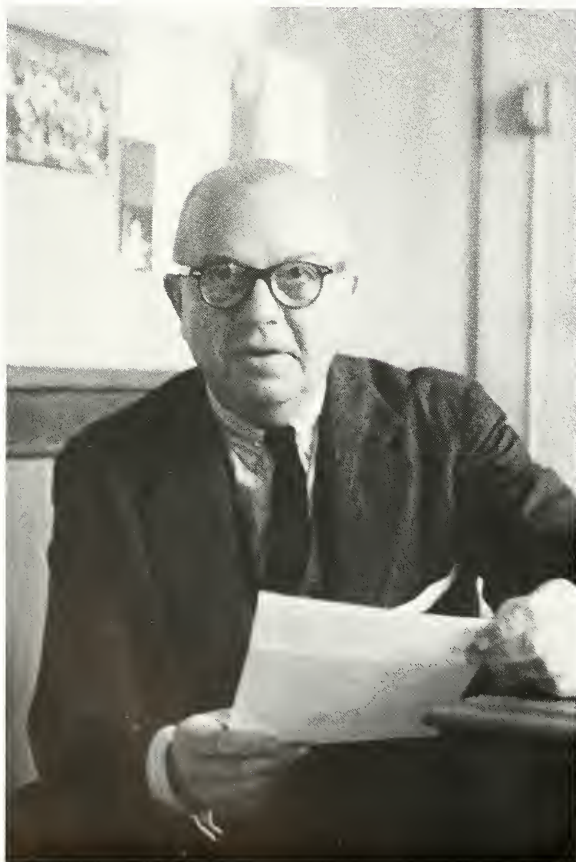

The Mobile Photo Laboratory, a darkroom on wheels, is used for many purposes, including photo workshops in area communities and photography classes at the Little Grassy Lake Campus during summer.

The School of Fine Arts includes the three departments of Art, Design, and Music. The School provides general cultural courses to all students of the University and specialized training to majors in the Fine Arts field.

During the last year, the music department added a major in church music to its curriculum and a new listening room for records. The art department added a much demanded course in the techniques of lithographic print media. Students majoring in design were given the privilege of studying under R. Buckminster Fuller, a leading expert in the field of design. The department also conducted a research project to discover the possibilities of mixed-media print to achieve new color and textural effects by mixing several media into a single print.

Burnett H. Shryock

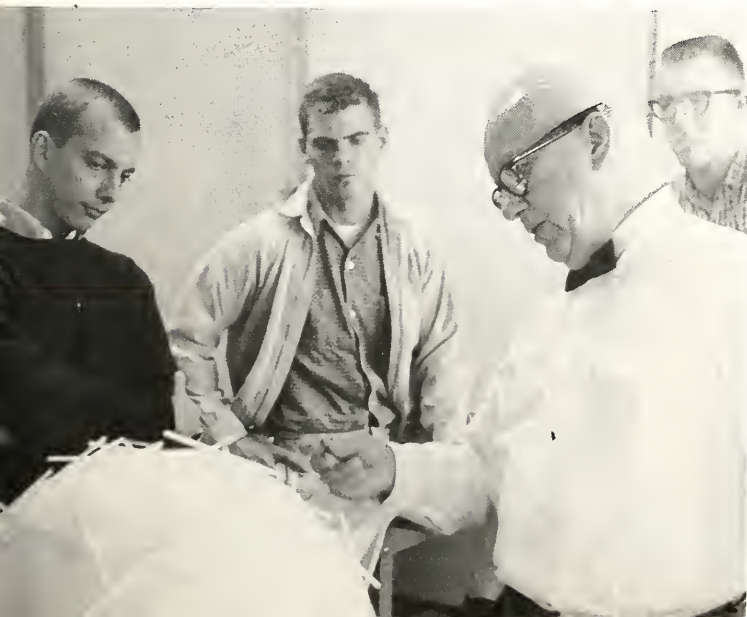

Art students making wood block prints must experiment with various mixtures of color and texture to obtain the desired result.

Music appreciation students make extensive use of the recently installed record listening room located in Altgeld Hall.

Throughout October, R. Buckminster Fuller, a leader in the field of design, conducted lectures for advanced design majors.

Eileen E. Quigley

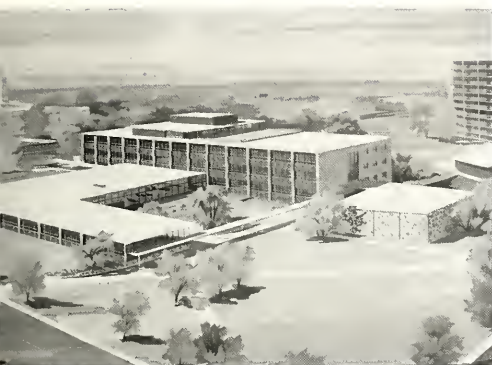

The School of Home Economics was established in July, 1957, to provide instruction, to stimulate research, to provide service work in this field for other educational units desiring it, and to give service to the people in the area. The School is composed of the departments of Clothing and Textiles, Food and Nutrition, Home and Family and Home Economics Education.

Students may prepare for the following professions: vocational Smith-Hughes teaching, apparel design, clothing and textiles merchandising, dietetics, foods in business, home advisers, homemaking, interior decoration, and institution management. The purposes of all curricula are to offer a general cultural program based on the needs of students and to provide a means of economic independence in home related professions.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Since its inception in 1944, the program of the Graduate School has been broadened year-by-year to include the offering of Masters degree work in practically all academic fields. Recently, the graduate curriculum has been expanded to include the Ph.D. in eight academic areas: government, psychology, general speech, speech pathology, microbiology, zoology, educational administration and supervision, and secondary education.

Keeping pace with the program expansion is the growth in graduate enrollment and in research. The combined graduate enrollments of the main campus and the residence centers totals over 1,100. The annual support of research on the part of the University, exclusive of salaries of faculty members engaged in research, totals $120,000. Research is also supported by $400,000 in outside grants.

Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps is in its eighth year at Southern Illinois University. It serves a dual purpose: to select and train officers for the United States Air Force, and to promote interest in air age subjects such as aviation, global geography, national security, and international relations. The program is divided into the Basic Course, required of all non-veteran, physically fit, male students during their first two years, and the voluntary Advanced Course.

In 1956 Southern, whose Cadet Wing is rated one of the nation's outstanding AFROTC Units, was selected as one of the ten schools in which a pilot program to select and train female officers was instituted.

APPLIED SCIENCE AND INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

The Department of Applied Science and Industrial Education provides training to future teachers, industrial supervisors, and manual arts therapists.

The Department has added many new features to its shops. During the last year, a new laboratory for testing the efficiency of machines, a laboratory with the latest Heli-ark welding equipment, and a new electrical power laboratory were added.

In conjunction with the Egyptian Roundtable, the Department sponsored the Industrial Education Student Project Fair to publicize the work of the industrial education student at all levels. Exhibits of student projects shown at the Fair drew more spectators than any other event. The Department offers a Bachelor of Science in Applied Science and Bachelor and Master of Science in industrial education.

DEPARTMENT OF NURSING

1957 heralded the first class of students admitted to Southern's Department of Nursing, established in 1955. Two programs, both leading to the degree, Bachelor of Science in Nursing, are offered by the Department, which will occupy new quarters in the Home Economics Building upon its completion.

The Class of 1961 entered its experience in the care of patients in winter quarter of 1959 at the Carbondale Clinic where they cared for mildly ill and ambulant patients. Five quarters of the basic program are spent in Chicago at the University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospital; the last year is spent in Carbondale.

The program for registered nurses encompasses at least two years of general education and nursing courses, with public health nursing experience given in the area.

Each curriculum is designed to prepare students in vocational technical skills at the semi-professional and technical level in industry, office occupations, personnel services, business, and retailing. Associate of Business degrees, Associate of Technology degrees and one-year certificates are offered.

The Division of Adult Education has been offering curricula in non-credit adult education courses in over 85 communities throughout Southern Illinois since 1953. With specialists serving as instructors, a wide variety of courses are offered. These courses are designed to assist persons to do their jobs better or to gain skills for advancement to better positions.

LITTLE GRASSY LAKE CAMPUS

The Little Grassy Lake Campus, 11 miles southeast of Carbondale, is an extension of the academic classroom and serves as a curriculum tool for students and instructors.

Its objectives include: training of counselors, teachers and administrators in camping, recreation, outdoor education and specialized subject areas; research and demonstrations center, and an integration of academic departments in an outdoor education laboratory.

The main program and activity areas planned for the Little Grassy Lake Campus are: Recreational and Physical Education Training Area, Conservation Teacher Training Area, Modified Structures for the Handicapped, Adult Education Area, Fine Arts and Communication Area, Natural History and Primitive Camping Area, and Administration and Special Services Area.

University Services

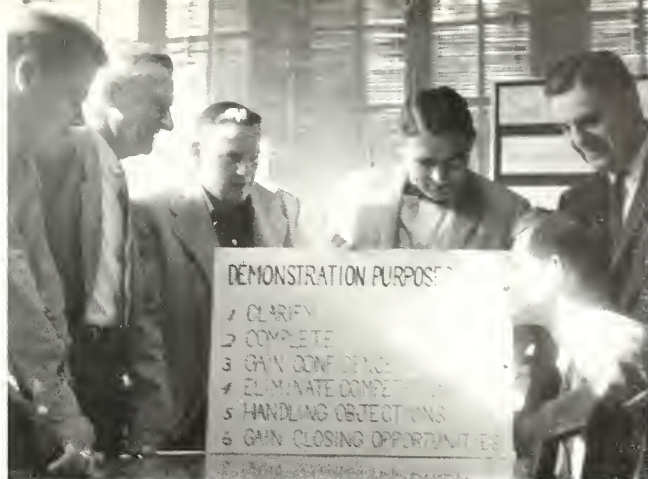

Amidst a background of past covers, Robert Odaniell of the Alumni Service and his staff are looking at a cover of the Southern Alumnus.

Few people stop to realize the importance of the university services on campus. Each one is essential for the proper functioning of the university. There is the Placement Service for graduating seniors seeking future employment. The Health Service is open every day for those students with aches and pains. The Alumni Service concerns itself with maintaining a bond of interest between the University and its 18,000 former students. This service organizes alumni clubs all over the nation, publishes the Southern Alumnus, and gathers information about former students of Southern. Teachers and others wishing to further their education may take college credit courses off-campus which are offered by the University's Extension Division. Headed by Dean Raymond H. Dey, this service offers assistance in planning and arranging educational workshops and conventions on campus. The Extension Division also arranges all tours of Southern's touring theater in the area communities. The Information Service releases all news of general interest about the students and faculty to newspapers, periodicals, and radio and TV. With all these services performing their specific functions, they become a total unit working for the benefit of the university.

The Photographic Service is staffed and equipped to serve almost every photographic need of the University. It provides pictures for publicity, teaching aids, photocopying, identification cards, campus publications, and motion pictures.

. . . . ATHLETICS . . .

An Open Letter to Saluki Fans . . .

In a few short years, the athletic program at Southern Illinois University has progressed from the point where it was one of the weakest in the IAC Conference to the point where in the last two years, we have become a top all-around power in the Conference. With this development of the program, there have been many who have asked the question, "Is there an attempt by Southern Illinois University to go 'big time' in athletics?"

To answer this we can already point to an impressive number of victories in such sports as wrestling, gymnastics, swimming, baseball, and tennis against some of the best known and most respected colleges and universities.

In these sports as where we do not find quite so much in competition in the recruitment of athletes, we compete, at least part of the time, with the very best. In football, track, and basketball, we have compiled excellent records this past year but our schedules can hardly be classified as "big time". We believe it is the consensus of the administration, the athletic council, faculty, and most of our students that we should continue with the type of athletic program we have at present.

All of our scholarships, which cover tuition and fees, are administered by the University Scholarship and Loans Committee and all athletes must maintain a "C" average or lose their scholarship. The other part of our program for an athlete includes a job on the student work program whereby he can earn enough for his room and board. Under such a plan, it is extremely doubtful whether SIU can ever expect to play football on the same level with schools of the Big Ten or other outstanding Independents in this country.

On the other hand, we feel it is possible that our basketball, track, and swimming teams, along with the other sports that are already doing so well, can be expected to operate and win perhaps one-half step below the level of the top teams in the nation.

Needless to say, the capable showing of Southern Illinois University's athletic teams during the 1958-59 school year was extremely gratifying. Football had its best record in twenty-eight years. The basketball team was one of the finest we have had at SIU. The wrestling, gymnastics, and swimming teams were definitely of big league caliber while cross-country, track, and golf showed tremendous improvement and both tennis and baseball showed promise of being extremely strong.

A successful athletic program doesn't just happen. It takes the co-operation and the hard work of a good many people.

Every member of the SIU coaching staff spends hundreds of extra hours in contacting students and in attempting to make their teams the best possible with the material available. The student body can be a powerful ally. Alumni and friends of the University can accomplish much by making contacts with prospective athletes, the type of contacts that would never be possible by the coaching staff.

Finally, we wish to make it plain that we are far from satisfied with the athletic program we now have. We must redouble our efforts and work increasingly to make our teams and our athletes always a little better, a little more skilled each year.

Southern Illinois University is one of seven schools, two from Michigan and five from Illinois, that are included in the Interstate Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference. Besides Southern Illinois at Carbondale with an enrollment of 10,418 (7,469 on campus), other schools included are Central Michigan College, Mt. Pleasant, Michigan (3,960); Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois (2,110); Eastern Michigan College, Ypsilanti, Michigan (4,500); Illinois State Normal University, Normal, Illinois (3,136); Northern Illinois University, DeKalb, Illinois (4,300); and Western Illinois University, Macomb, Illinois (2,600).

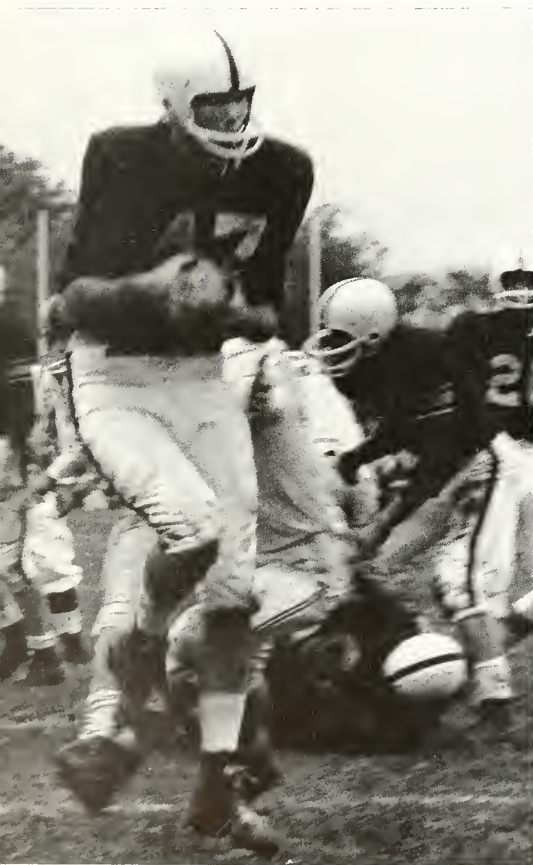

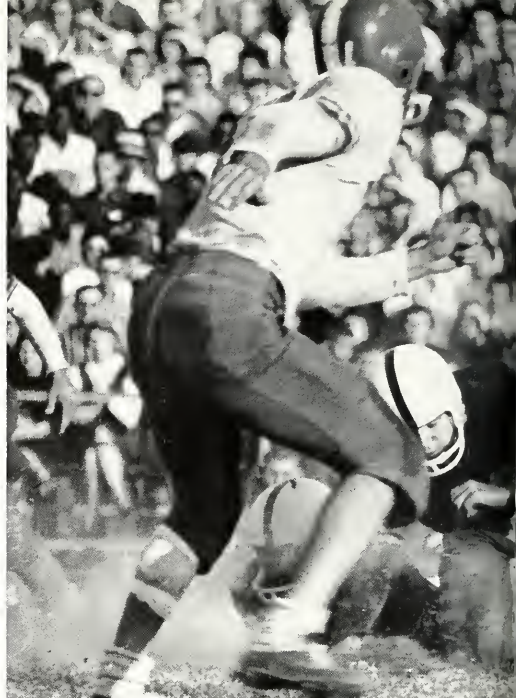

The conference was originated on April 5, 1908, for the purpose of determining track championships. In 1909 with the addition of three colleges to the conference competition was extended to include football, basketball and baseball. At one point, in 1920, the schools in the conference numbered nineteen and the conference was nicknamed the "Little Nineteen".

In 1937 scheduling difficulties were met and the conference divided, the liberal arts colleges forming a group known as the Illinois College Conference. The remaining schools were teachers colleges and retained the name of Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

In 1950 the five remaining schools in the conference issued invitations to Eastern Michigan College and Central Michigan College to join the IAC. Both accepted. The "IAC" was retained and now represents the widely recognized and respected "Interstate Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference."

FOOTBALL

End Dick Nelson (47), grabs pass from quarterback Bill Norwood for a Southern touchdown in the Homecoming game against Washington and Lee University.

Opening the season with four successive victories, the 1958 Southern Illinois University football team gave advance notice that they were to have their finest season in 28 years. Southern won 7 while losing only 2, yet failed to win the IIAC title due to disappointing losses to two of their weakest conference foes.

Evansville College fell in the opener 34-14, but the game was much closer than the final score indicated. The Salukis never got up steam until late in the game, and only late scores made the victory margin so large. By far the most alarming note, however, was the complete lack of a Saluki pass defense, and had the Purple Aces any dependable pass plan the score could have been reversed.

On September 28, Southern scored its second victory, over a weak West Virginia State squad. Again Southern's pass defense showed up slightly porous, but State was hardly able to take advantage. On the other hand, the Salukis moved the ball with ease and authority behind a big aggressive line that Southern grew to rely upon so much in later games.

The initial conference battle against Western Illinois University will not likely be forgotten for years in southern Illinois. This first IIAC tilt Southern deemed a "must", but when Western failed to put up much of a first-half struggle the Salukis surged to a 18-0 lead. In fact Western appeared so drowsy that had Southern only clicked a little more, being stalled with first downs on the Leathernecks' 10 and 7 yard lines, the game would have been absolutely beyond recall at half time.

As it turned out, just the opposite was true. A fired-up Western team came out of the dressing room. Within 3 minutes Western had narrowed the Saluki lead to five points at 18-13. After an exchange of punts Southern fumbled near midfield, and the Western QB soon caught a Leatherneck halfback completely alone on Southern's 10-yard line, from where he scampered across the goal for the score. After the conversion and kick-off Western grabbed another Saluki fumble on the first play from scrimmage and pushed across their second score. At the start of the fourth quarter, Western again recovered a Saluki bobble, this time on the 17. Leatherneck halfback Willie Spates sped over in one play, and Western led 19-18. Continuing to outplay Southern even as they had been outplayed the first half, Western took a Saluki punt on their own 34 and drove 66 yards in six plays to make it 25-18. But Southern refused to quit. They powered down the field inside of ten plays, and Bill Norwood tallied from the two to make it 25-24, with four minutes remaining. Western took the kick-off and was forced to punt, but Norwood's vital pass was intercepted on Western's 8-yard line. Saluki hopes dipped to lowest ever as Western moved to their fifth TD with the score 31-24. With 45 seconds left Southern completed two short passes, then with 15 seconds to go Lane Jenkins caught up with a 67-yard desperation heave by Norwood and raced over the goal line. Jenkins dove into the end zone for the two points, robbing Western of an amazing comeback victory.

Eastern Illinois succumbed easily the next week, 29-8, despite numerous Saluki injuries. On the fifth try out, Southern's crash came as winless Illinois Normal toppled the Salukis 21-8. Crippled severely by backfield injuries, Southern even had their vaunted line pushed around the field, as the Redbirds picked up 330 yards on the ground. No offense could be mustered whatsoever, and the defense missed easy tackles almost every play.

Southern, now fiercely riled, met tough Eastern Michigan in the finest defensive game of the year, and triumphed 13-9. Another Norwood to Jenkins pass play, this time with less than three minutes remaining, pulled the game out for the Salukis.

"Night-train" Lane Jenkins (30), goes high in air in attempt to grab goal-line pass. Jenkins, the leading pass-catcher for Southern, was covered on play, however, by Eastern Michigan safeties.

Washington and Lee made Southern's first Homecoming victory in five years relatively easy, falling 36-7.

Now Southern invaded Central Michigan for what appeared to be the showdown of the season. Southern slushed through game-long rains to a 24-7 triumph, and the conference crown seemed in the offing.

Yet the Northern Illinois Huskies, not to be denied on the last day of the season, determinedly turned back the Southern squad, 17-7, at DeKalb on November 15. Northern, like Illinois Normal, had simply outplayed the Salukis on that particular day and Southern's temporary let-down had allowed nemesis Western to squeak home with the conference crown.

Third row: Al Kowal, head coach; Henry Robertson, Gerald Eskoff, Amos Bullocks, Richard Dowson, Jordy Secker, Bill Norwood, Glenn Williams, Nick Re, Houston Antwine.

Southern has had many standouts in its history and one of the greatest was surely halfback Carver Shannon. "Merk" was out most of the '58 season with injuries but his performance still made him one of SIU's most exciting players.

Captain Cecil Hart, at a light 180 lbs., was named as the IAC first team fullback, and Bill Norwood, Saluki QB, except for a mid-season injury, could have had a good chance at the SIU total offense mark. Up front Willie Brown led his teammates in making Southern's the toughest line in the conference. Practically an all freshman and sophomore group, these men, notably Dick Carpenter, Houston Antwine, Don Bates, Bill Seilheimer, and Paul Brostrom should continue to give Southern top forward wall strength.

Likely replacements for the departing Southern backfield of Norwood, Shannon, Hart, and Ranette Lewis, are Amos Bullocks, a big powerful runner from Chicago, short, speedy Jan Jansco, and two fine young quarterbacks, Ron Winter and Charles "Duke" Sutton. Add to these the usual crop of talented freshmen performers, and Southern very possibly will present another formidable team on the '59 gridiron.

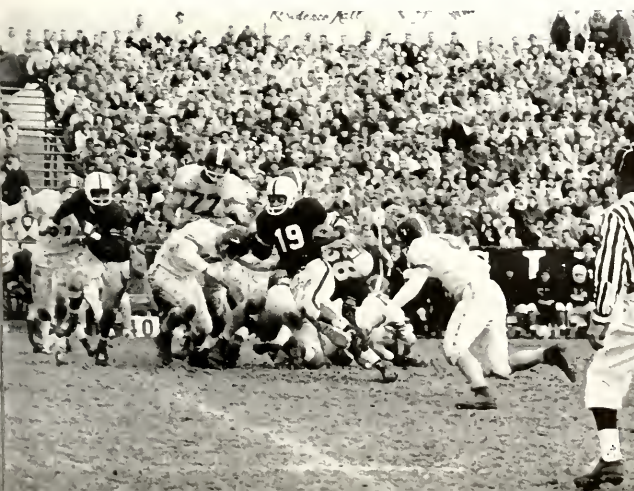

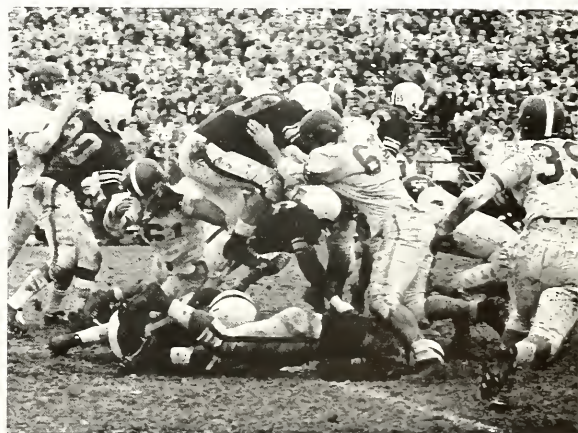

Quarterback Dave Wheeler (42) looks on helplessly as halfback Amos Bullocks (48) is uplifted by tackle behind line of scrimmage. Cecil Hart (43) leads interference for play that never developed.

ant line coach. Third row: Jerald Haekstra, Carver Shannon, Gary Curry, Bill Yates, Bill Seilheimer, Ray Knecht, Ted Farmer, Clyde Ross, Carmen Piccone, backfield coach.

Hurling into midst of opposing linemen, captain and fullback Cecil Hart characterizes the spirit and determination that Southern gave fans all season long.

Smashing through Eastern Michigan's line, Southern's All-American nominee, Carver Shannon (19) spurts into the secondary. Coming up to block on play is guard Charlie Steptoe.

On November 8 the Southern Illinois University football squad journeyed 550 miles to Mt. Pleasant, Michigan to play Central Michigan College in a crucial IAC contest. Boarding a plane at six o'clock Friday morning, approximately thirty members of the Saluki footballers took off on their three-day excursion. One of our university photographers went along to pictorially record the trip. From the boarding of the plane and the pre-game activities all the way up to, and through the contest itself, which, incidentally, was won by Southern 24-7, our man took the pictures that tell the story. Here for you, are a little of the team's actions after their departure from Carbondale.

BASKETBALL

Living up to promises of a fast-moving, quick-shooting team, Coach Harry Gallatin led the 1958-59 Southern Illinois basketball team to second place in the IIAC and a 17-8 overall mark. Southern also appeared in its first NCAA small college regional and, including the post-season play, Southern tangled with five teams that were among the nation's top twenty small college teams.

From the first it was apparent that the Salukis were a run-and-shoot outfit, destined to break several of their previous scoring marks. The cagers averaged a new high of 88.5 points a game, scored a season's high total of 2,213, set a home floor record of 197 points for two teams while beating Eastern Illinois, 105-92, and Southern's captain, Seymour Bryson, established a new individual mark with 40 points against Quincy College. Seymour perhaps spoke for the entire team in explaining his best scoring year, saying simply, "I take more shots"—and indeed, everyone did.

But early season difficulties were soon apparent. Gallatin had to abandon his dream of a two-platoon team with all twelve men racing in and out of the lineup when it became obvious that the Salukis just didn't "have the horses". A starting five emerged with Bryson, Charles Vaughn, Don Hepler, James Gualdoni, and Richard Ruggles beginning the action almost every game. But another difficulty of the fast-break game, an increase in the number of fouls, gave reserves Tom McGreal, Harold Bardo, Francis Florian, and Randy McClary chances to see plenty of action. Often the games worked out as planned with the Saluki cagers easily outrunning opponents. Indeed in one stretch beginning January 8, Southern won nine straight. But this string came when Southern's record was only 4-6, a fact that mirrored well Southern's early season problems in getting going. While the Salukis could and often did look sharp, several times they were guilty of bad passes, lethargic 'fast-breaks,' excessive fouling, and just plain poor shooting. Yet this season was the first the squad's first five had played together, indeed, two of them were freshmen, and the transition from the southern Illinois slow break to the quasi-pro fast break was understandably, at first, not an easy one. But the Salukis did finally overcome it, and that all return next year except Bryson, portends of great things in the future.

Next year promises to be even better for the Saluki cagers. Southern loses only one player, but he's a good one — Captain Seymour Bryson. "Bryce" led the conference in rebounding, was selected as center on the all-IIAC team and set an SIU four year scoring mark of 1,514 points, besides his forty point output in the Quincy tournament.

Future hopes will most probably include 6'2" forward Charles Vaughn, who used his almost indefensible jump shot to set a new mark of 612 points in one season, his first at SIU. "Sweet Charley" possesses great speed and a pair of amazingly quick hands and consistently jumps with opponents several inches taller than himself. Vaughn received honorable mention recognition in several All-American polls and was named to the NAIA's District 20 first team.

Freshman Jim Gualdoni and junior Dick Ruggles teamed up well at the guard positions. Gualdoni was second in the IIAC in field goal percentage, shooting a fine .557, and the "Rug", an immensely popular player because of his nifty passing and aggressiveness, developed a scornig punch this year.

Probably the most underrated player was 6'4" forward Don Hepler. "Hep", constantly "in the shadow" of either Vaughn or Bryson, came through with fine efforts in many key games, such as Wheaton and Northern Illinois.

Southern's "bench", while not overpowering, was solid. Tom McGreal, 6'5" sophomore, was a very capable performer but usually needed a little kindling under him and played his best in tight games. "Sonny" Bardo got a chance to utilize his fine speed in Gallatin's fast-break style; while on the other hand, Garrison Newsom, last year's number one guard, never seemed able to change his style to the run-and-shoot offense. Francis Florian, 6'1" freshman from West Frankfort's fine '58 team, had trouble too, going over to fast-break play. Yet his fine shooting in a few Saluki contests still made him the number three guard. Gene Sams, another returning letterman at guard, is also a good shooter and runner, but saw limited action in '58. Randy McClary showed big improvement over his freshman season, and at 6'4" he's likely to stay around for awhile.

Lanky Tom McGreal rises amidst five Illinois Normal players for shot at basket in 101-88 Saluki victory.

Jump ball at Evansville regional pits Jim Gauldoni against tall Wittenberg forward. Salukis in picture are (21) Charley Vaughn, (45) Don Hepler, (13) Dick Ruggles and (33) Seymour Bryson.

Jaw jutted out with tobacco, Saluki catcher, J. W. Sanders readies as pitch nears plate.

Outfielder Fred Loesekam registers glee over base knock in contest at Southern.

Second-sacker Richard "Itchy" Jones frowns, but connects squarely with pitch for solid hit to right.

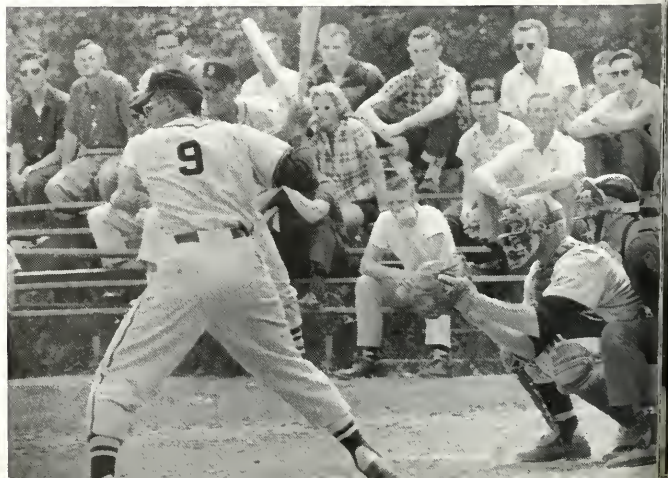

BASEBALL

Waiting to clinch the title until the final week-end series against Northern Illinois, Coach Glenn "Abe" Martin's baseball Salukis won the conference crown with a 10-3 record. Southern edged the Huskies of Northern by one run in each of the final three contests. The IAC championship was last taken by Southern in 1952.

The Martinmen were particularly effective at home, where they won 10 of 11 games played. During the course of the season Southern's nine also scored impressive wins over Quincy, Bradley, St. Louis University, Louisiana State, and the University of Illinois. The team's trip through the South, taken each Spring, also turned out creditably with the Salukis winning 4 of 8. The squad totaled up the year with an aggregate 19 wins and 8 losses.

The team boasted an over all batting average of .303 for the season, .316 in the conference. The combined ERA of the hurlers was 3.65. There were only three seniors on the squad, but two of them were pitchers—Ron Ayers and John Gilmore. Senior outfielder Tony Velasco, who batted .270, should also be missed in '59. Sophomore pitcher Jerry Thomas signed a $12,000 bonus with the San Francisco Giants and he too will be gone.

Those who made the All-Conference team were Richard Dillinger, 1B (.455) and MVP; Richard "Itchy" Jones, 2B (.303); and Gilmore.

TRACK

Displaying some fine individual performers, but lacking team depth, Southern's 1958 track and field squad "ran up" a record of two wins, two losses, and a tie. Throughout the year there was at least one outstanding man in almost every event, but his point totals were not consistently supported by the second-line men. For example, Coach Lingle's cindermen took 10 of 14 firsts against Eastern, yet were held to a 65½-65½ tie.

Particularly outstanding were Carver Shannon and Marion Rushing (pictured at left) who set new Saluki records. Others nearing Southern marks were John Flamer, mile and two-mile; Ron Helberg, quarter-mile; Dale Gleghorn, low hurdles; Loris Lambert, high hurdles; and Jack Souers, pole-vault.

Marion Rushing whose 195'11½" javelin heave broke a 26-year-old Saluki record. Carver Shannon; his :09.8 sprint in the 100-yard dash snapped a Southern mark first set in 1925.

CROSS COUNTRY

Bouncing back from a somewhat sub-part season in 1957, the Saluki Harriers wound up with a fine 6-2 record. Coach Leland P. "Doc" Lingle's team, for the last few years the doormat of the IIAC, snapped back to form while finishing fifth, only one point away from the fourth position.

Junior Captain Carl Meier led the Salukis through the season, and sophomores Dale Glegghorn and Mahlon Mahoney helped out. But the real surprises were the outstanding performances turned in by the freshmen, John Flamer, high-point man, Lee King, and Ron Dunbar.

WRESTLING

Climaxing another undefeated season in 1959, Southern Illinois wrestling team won their third IAC championship. The title was especially gratifying to the '59 squad, since the Salukis also went undefeated in 1958 but were nosed out for the crown by Northern Illinois. This time, however, six Salukis won individual titles, and no Southern grappler placed worse than third. Titlists were Jim Bledsoe (123), the remarkable blind "Deke" Edwards (130), Dick Frankenberger (137), Jack Crider (147), co-captain Lee Grubbs (157), also named the outstanding wrestler at the championships, and Marion Rushing (191).

During the regular season Southern posted a 9-0 mark, extending to twenty-two an unbeaten string dating from February, 1957. In addition, Southern had few 'close' matches, save Indiana, when Rushing pinned his opponent in the last match for the victory. The squad also displayed tremendous depth and on one occasion the "second stringers" captured the Ritenour YMCA tournament at St. Louis while the varsity was elsewhere winning a conference match.

Showing graceful form on descent from flying rings, IAC champ Ed Foster is caught by camera in mid-air.

By finishing the regular season with an 11-4 record against some of the toughest competition in the nation, the 1959 Southern Illinois gymnastics squad established itself as one of the top groups in the land. After finishing second last year, Southern had an easy romp over IAC opposition in '59, winning every event and placing John Taylor as the all-around champ.

The team benefited greatly from its talented freshmen, Hugh Blaney, Fred Tijerina, Len Kalakian, and Jon Shidler, who were constant point-getters all year.

Conference titlists were Bob Kies, side-horse, Ed Foster, still-rings, Kalakian, tumbling and trampoline, Taylor, high-bar and tie with Jack Wiley in free-exercise, and John Ostarello, parallel bar.

Foster, shown here again, was a consistent performer all year on flying rings, also took conference still rings crown.

SWIMMING

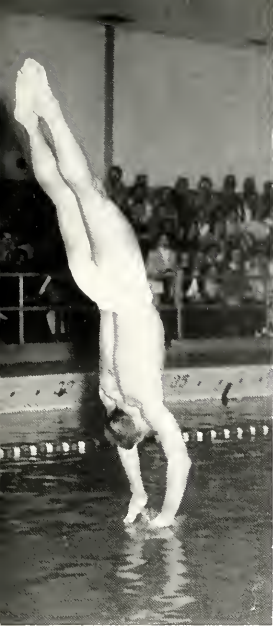

Compiling an excellent 6-2 season record, the 1959 Saluki swimming team captured SIU's first conference championship March 6-7 by breaking every existing conference mark!

Southern totaled 142 points at the meet, more than doubling runner-up Western's 68. Most sensational was Norbert Rumpel, freshman from Germany, who set NCAA and American marks in the 100 and 200 yard breast stroke. Others who broke IAC marks were freshmen, Walt Rodgers, Clyde Epperson and Australian Jim Fountain, a mid-term addition like Rumpel.

Sophomore captain Bob Steele, one of the "old-timers" on the team, set new marks in his specialties, the 100 and 200 yard backstroke.

Shoving off in 100 yard backstroke, Capt. Bob Steele (nearest camera) starts attempt to better his own record of 1:01.6.

TENNIS

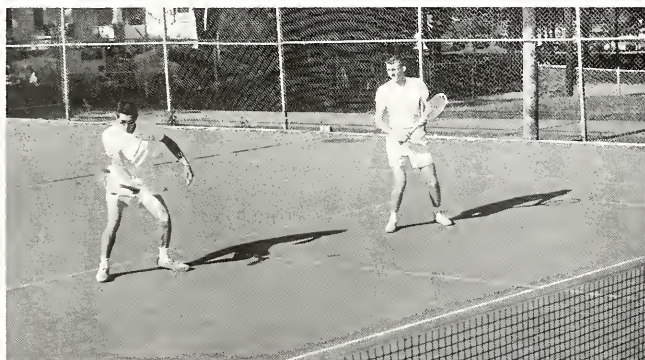

Seeded as low as third in the pre-season ratings, Southern's 1958 tennis team improved all year, climaxed their successful season by capturing the IIAC tennis crown at Illinois Normal May 23-24. Paced by stand-outs Jim Jarrett, Doyle Glass, Jerry Gruen, and Jerry Budzelek, Southern reversed the usual trend and refused to fold under pressure. Jarrett won the number 2 singles; Glass the number 4, and Gruen the number 5. Budzelek was runner-up in the number one bracket, losing in the finals to Komike of Eastern. Only Jim Shanklin, number 6 singles, failed to get into at least the semi-final round. John Taylor, number 3 singles, made the semi-finals before being defeated.

All three of Southern's doubles teams took a second as three schools battled to the wire. Southern finished with 18 points, Eastern Illinois had 17, and Illinois Normal was third with 15. The crown was Southern's first since 1947.

During the year, the Saluki's split their four matches, then went on to win seven of their remaining nine contests. They were shut out once—by Iowa, a Big Ten Power, and in turn they whitewashed an opponent, Bradley University.

GOLF

Sporting an excellent 11-2-1 dual match record, the 1958 Southern golf team finished its finest season in history. The linkmen won their first 7 straight before bowing to St. Louis University, a team they had previously beaten. Coach Lynn Holder's boys averaged a 77 in match play as Dick Foulk, a freshman from West Frankfort, led the way with an average 74 for the 14 matches.

Although the season was successful on the whole, it must be added that the Salukis finished a disappointing seventh in the conference. This could be partially attributed to the presence of four freshmen on the squad who were playing in their first title matches. By the same token, however, these boys are expected to improve even more with the year of experience gained.

INTRAMURALS

Intramural athletics at Southern Illinois University afford the entire student body an opportunity to enjoy competition in a truly democratic way. Organized to provide a tremendous range of activity, intramural athletics offer many events that will challenge the interest of every student. All students are organized competitively, with the emphasis being on student participation and leadership. Participation is not compulsory.

Glenn "Abe" Martin heads the department which offers as many as fifteen different sporting activities during the year. There is an intramural student board which assists Mr. Martin in drawing up schedules and arranging for the championship tourneys. Trophies and individual awards are given in sports. The contests are officiated by students selected by the department. Last year over 4,000 students participated in intramural basketball alone, a number larger than all Southern's varsity teams combined.

Forward pass eludes all three players in Greek league action. Fierce rivalry has developed through the years in this competition.

Jump shot is attempted by Fred Loesekam, member of championship team "Studs" in title game. Over 4,000 competed in IM basketball this year.

GIRLS' INTRAMURALS

Tennis is one of the many activities girls participate in, either individually or in teams.

The Women's Athletic Association is the sponsor of most of the women's intramural programs with the co-operation and help of the women's physical education department. W.A.A. activities are open to all women students in the University. Competition is divided into house and class tournaments for both individual and team activities.

The week end before school commences a pre-school planning session is held at Little Grassy Lake to plan the forthcoming year's activities. Approximately 45 sport managers and club officers attend the session.

Some of the special activities of the organization are a trail hike, Homecoming hockey game, hockey sportsday, and Homecoming brunch. Several clubs for women work with or are a part of W.A.A. They are the Fencing Club, Aquaettes, Modern Dance Club, Officials Club, and the "I" Club.

Champions for the year's competition: Basketball, Sigma Kappa; Tennis, Sigma Sigma Sigma; and Badminton, Barrett's Dorm.

W.A.A.'s teams defeated Illinois Normal, St. Louis University, and Principia in basketball. Illinois Normal was defeated in volleyball. In hockey they defeated Principia and lost to Illinois Normal. All events are held in connection with Sportsdays.

For the really active girl, soccer is the game. Here in the foreground of McAndrew Stadium these girls are barrelling toward the goal line.

Horseback riding is sponsored by the women's physical education department.

Fencing is another part of the intramural program for women. The Fencing Club made a trip to St. Louis for an exhibition match.

. . ORGANIZATIONS . .

Sphinx Club

The Sphinx Club, made up of 25 members, recognizes campus leaders, active in service, religion, clubs and all-school committees. However, a student cannot work alone to get into Sphinx Club. He must be sincerely interested in helping his organization, University and fellow students. The club is the highest non-scholastic honor a student can receive.

Paul Jones, theatre major and Phi Sigma Kappa, participated in Southern Players, Inter-Greek Council, and Southern Spirit Council, as well as being a cheerleader. Paul believes that the best thing that ever happened to him was receiving the Most Outstanding Sophomore Award from the Sphinx Club.

Sigma Sigma Sigma president, Linda Adams, was also in Angel Flight, Cap and Tassel, Zeta Phi Eta, and Pi Lambda Theta. A speech major, her philosophy of life is "You get out of life just what you put into it."

Being a resident fellow for 2 years Dale Ashmore, a government major, has developed a "Do your best" attitude toward life. A Delta Chi, Dale was President of Social Senate. His worst situation was the day he almost quit school.

Sphinx Club president, Pati Dey enjoys swimming, reading, sewing and writing fiction. She has also been Homecoming chairman, Sigma Sigma Sigma secretary, Junior class president, and vice-president of Cap and Tassel.

The nicest thing that ever happened to Jim Crisman was getting married. A Business major, Jim served on several steering committees. He feels that "You help yourself by helping others." His after graduation plans include getting a job with Uncle Sam.

"Cheer up, things could be worse!" Dan Bode's philosophy is one of the reasons why you always see a smile on his face. Dan's voice is familiar to listeners of WINI and WSRV. Dan, a Delta Chi, has been very active in campus social and governmental committees.

Margaret Coury, vice-president of the Sphinx Club, believes, "To live and share with others is the most wonderful of our privileges." Mag, an education major, likes SIU's friendliness. Her most embarrassing moment—forgetting the last line of a speech.

Marie Holtfield, a piano major feels that "Life is empty without music!" One of the nicest things that happened to her was singing with the Blue Tones Quartette. Marie was SIU's 1958 Homecoming Queen.

Ask Judy Maynard what her hobby is and she will tell you, "Learning to play the Ukulele". An English education major from Marion, Judy belongs to several honorary fraternities on campus. She has an interesting job—a resident fellow at Thompson Point.

One of the nicest things that happened to Jan Fegley, a speech major, was becoming engaged to her debate coach. Jan believes that one of her most enjoyable experiences was working with the International Relations Club.

According to Ken Dry, a zoology education major, attending Southern enabled him to meet many wonderful people. Ken was kept busy on campus by being active in his fraternity, Delta Chi, and President of the Student Union.

According to John Crowell, a psychology major, the nicest thing that happened to him was making someone else happy and the worst—disappointing someone. The Delta Chi president's philosophy—Live and learn and you will learn to live.

Diane Newland's most interesting job was working as a secretary on Chicago's South Water Market. When she is not busy with campus activities, the Pi Kappa Sigma president enjoys bowling, reading, and bridge.

Besides being active in his fraternity, Phi Kappa Tau, Jim Haynes has served on several campus committees. During his free moments, Jim sketches. The East St. Louisan's major—math.

The nicest thing that ever happened to Barb Eidson was "meeting, falling in love, and marrying Bill Eidson." Barb, a music education major, was president of Sigma Kappa and assistant director of Angel-Aires.

Kay Campbell, an English major, believes that "Those who give much, receive much!" Her most interesting job—a secretary for the largest law firm in the Mid-West, located on the 28th and 29th floors of the Prudential Building in Chicago.

Pruning pineapples in Accapora was Don Bretsch's most interesting job. The Sigma Pi Fraternity president was also a member of the Arnold Air Society.

The president of the Southern Spirit Council, Sherwin Adelman, came to SIU because he wanted a big school with a small school's friendliness. The Chicagian is a Phi Sigma Kappa.

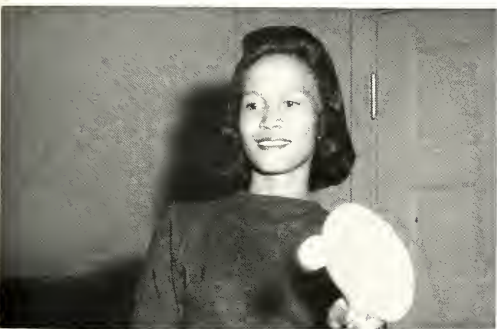

According to Bob Key, SIU was a place where, "I came, I saw, I learned. But most of all, I discovered how much I had yet to learn". He was president of Theta Xi, IFC, and the senior class.

Working as a secretary at Time Inc., in Chicago was one of Pat Bond Telford's most interesting jobs. A member of Sigma Sigma Sigma, Pat finds time during her married life to enjoy sewing and painting.

Jim Connell, Phi Kappa Tau vice-president, says the worst thing that ever happened to him was being drafted out of college. Jim is one of the charter members of the newly established Old Yeller Club.

The nicest thing that ever happened to Bobbie Harris Taylor was getting married and having a baby. The president of Alpha Kappa Alpha served on several steering committees.

Besides being active in her sorority, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Lois Welch was on the Woody Hall House Council and Social Senate. Lois likes to knit argyle socks in her spare time. By the way, she is engaged.

Dan Telford, senior personnel major, from Decatur, was vice-president of Student Council. Dan was also quite active as president of Southern Acres Dormitories. Dan and his wife, Pat, are both in the Sphinx Club.

When Myrna Kuhn finds time from her many and varied campus activities, she likes to read and go to parties. The kindergarten - primary major believes the worst thing that happened to her was taking a course over. "It was bad enough the first time," she says.

Accounting Club

The Accounting Club was organized in 1956 for the purpose of offering accounting students an opportunity to become better acquainted with the various accounting opportunities. Each year the club sponsors a field trip, guest speakers, a picnic, and a banquet. The membership is open to all accounting students with an overall 3.0 average.

Advertising Club

The Advertising Club has speakers each month at their meetings to create interest in advertising and give students a real insight into the field. During the year they worked with radio station WCIL on the "It Pays to Shop in Carbondale" survey. They also participated in the ILLMOKY Advertising Club.

The purpose of the Agriculture Club is to improve and increase interest among students of Agriculture. The annual banquet was held March 5, 1959, with Dr. Melsted speaking on "Agriculture in Europe". The club won first place with its Homecoming float. They also sponsor an annual Homecoming barbecue open to the public.

Alpha Lambda Delta, national honorary for freshman women who have maintained a 4.5 average for two terms, has been on campus for three years. The group had monthly meetings featuring speakers on educational topics. In conjunction with Phi Eta Sigma, the group worked out plans for a tutoring system which will begin operating next Fall quarter.

Student Government

William Berry, junior from Granite City, served as president of the student body. Berry, a pre-law student, was the first president elected under the new constitution.

Student Government began the year with a new constitution. The constitution was adopted by the student body during the spring term of 1958. The new government took form with William Berry, president, and Jerry Feezel, vice-president, of the student body.

Under the new constitution, student government divided and fixed the responsibilities between the legislative, executive, and judicial departments. Each department was obligated to concentrate in particular areas, and then with a coordinated approach the student government could best represent student thinking.

The legislative branch was given several basic responsibilities such as the "power over the purse", to bring up ideas and stimulate thinking, and then to formulate them into policy recommendations.

The executive branch was created to serve as the administrator to free the council from basic research projects, so they would have the time to weigh the facts and make mature sound recommendations to the administration. The executive branch would also be the spokesman for the student body through the president on the established council policies.

A Student Government project this year was the bond issue at the general election during November. The Council had a post card campaign and visited high schools urging voters to vote for the issue.

Art Carlisle, N.S.A. Coordinator, looks over a letter with his secretary, Judy Marchildon. Carlisle was appointed National Student Association Coordinator after the Student Council joined the U.S.N.S.A. last year.

GREEK WEEK

Dick Hunsaker receives the trophy for the most valuable fraternity man.

The trophy for the most valuable sorority woman is presented to Nora Langreder.

Greek Sing winners for the sororities was Delta Zeta.

Greek Week officially began May 17, 1958, with a car wash and the painting of the Center for the Blind. The car wash project proceeds were turned over to charity. All the Greek organizations took part washing cars at various filling stations. The following day the groups attended the churches of their choice in the morning and participated in the eleventh annual Greek Sing that evening. Each group sang two songs, one of their fraternal songs and another of their own choosing. Delta Zeta and Sigma Sigma Sigma Sororities were winners for the sororities and Phi Kappa Tau and Sigma Pi were winners of the fraternities, respectively. The Sing was dedicated to the memory of Dr. Floyd V. Waseland, SIU choral director from 1939 to 1957.

"Beer Garden" was Theta Xi's contribution to Greek Week. Root beer and pretzels were served on Monday evening. On Tuesday evening a fraternity serenade to all the sorority houses was given. The next day a banquet for the officers of the Greek organizations was held with a workshop following.

A picnic was held Friday for the Greeks with recreation and lots of food. The fraternities participated in a sports day Saturday afternoon in McAndrew Stadium.

The Ralph Flanagan Orchestra gave a concert Saturday night. This was the first year for a big name band to appear in the Greek Week festivities. After the concert in Shryock, the orchestra played for the Greek Week Dance at Lentz Hall. At this dance the awards were given for the most valuable sorority woman and most valuable fraternity man. Nora Langreder and Dick Hunsaker were recipients respectively.

Greek Week was under the supervision of co-chairman Rosalie Stein and Bob Key.

The Greek flag, designed by Southern's own Tri Sigma in 1956, is a symbol of the fraternal unity which prevails on SIU's campus.

Phi Kappa Tau was winner in the Greek Sing competition among fraternities.

Theta Xi's served a snack of pretzels and root beer at their "Beer Garden".

GREEK WEEK

Highlighting the Greek Week festivities was the Saturday night dance at Lentz Hall.

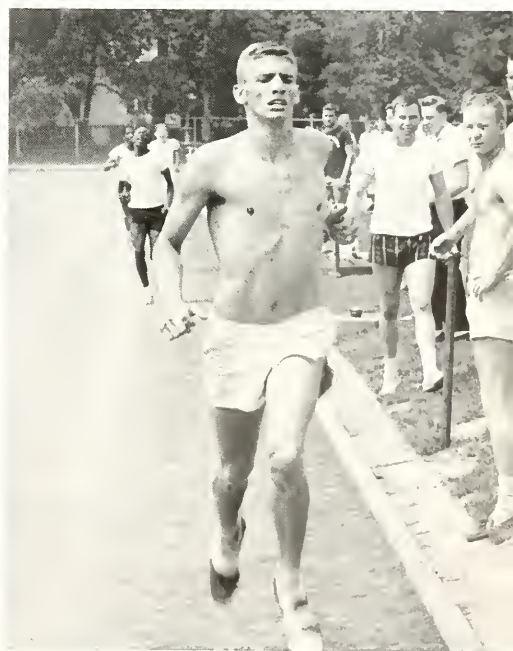

Ralph Flanagan's Orchestra furnished the music for the Greek Week dance and concert.

Clean'er up fellows! Greeks wash cars at filling stations in Carbondale and turn the proceeds over to charity.

The Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority won the attendance trophy for Pan-Hellenic Workshop in the spring. Mrs. Arnetta Wallace, national president of AKA was the guest speaker at the workshop. Another highlight of the year was the AKA talent show.

Alpha Kappa Alpha

For the second consecutive year the Alpha Gams have captured first place for homecoming decorations. Their theme for this year was "Southern's March to Glory." The group also placed second in the Theta Xi Variety show and third in TKE Olympics. They won their match against the Pi Kaps in powder puff football. Two Alpha Gams were finalists in the Miss Southern Contest. They were Judy Sirles and Sharon Neilson.

The sorority sent letters for Easter Seals to residents of Illinois. As an annual Christmas project the group gives gifts to the Old Folks Home in Carbondale and makes Christmas baskets. The annual open house was held October 12 and the winter formal February 14.

"The Dance of the Pink Elephants," a skit based on material from Delta Chi's own experts, won a second place trophy for the fraternity in the Spring Festival Vaudeville show. The group has been among the top three in scholarship for the last two years. Many members of the fraternity are active on Student Union. Delta Chi, Ron Meyer, is sophomore class president.

At their open house last fall they exhibited their new chapter house. Other annual events for the year were the fifth Pizza Supper, White Carnation Formal, and the Warehouse Dance.

Last summer Ray Gimmey, John Crowell, Al Swailes, Colonel MacMillan and Emil Spees represented the fraternity at the convention at Lake Texoma, Texas.

Delta Zetas captured the first place trophy at Greek Sing for their presentation of their own composition, "Little". The DZs also won second place in TKE Olympics. Jaye Berry was Olympics queen. The group also won an honorable mention for their homecoming float. The chapter house was re-decorated inside this year.

Annual events held for the sorority were the money making car wash held in October, 1958 and the Rose Ball, held April 4, the semi-formal initiation dance, and their philanthropy project. Founder's Day was celebrated October 24.

Each year the sorority gives a bracelet to a member with highest scholastic improvement. Last year the award was given to Carolyn Keeper.

. . . . LIVING GROUPS . . .

Dowdell Halls

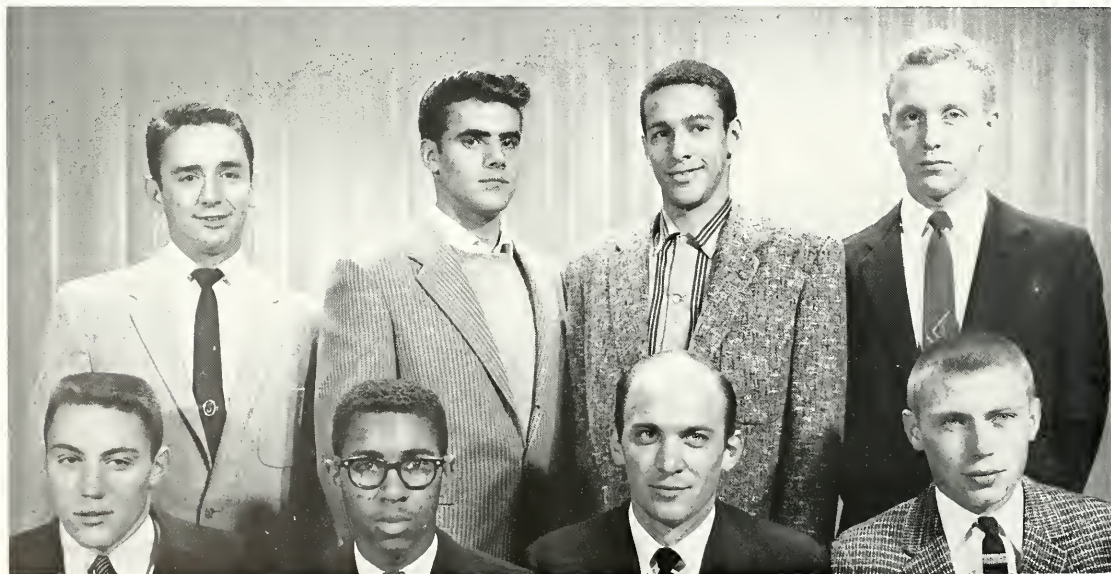

The Dowdell Halls are eight in number and are well known for their strongly built walls of cardboard. The dorms are converted army barracks, remodeled with a recreation hall and snack center for residents. This spring telephones were finally added to every dorm thus eliminating the problem of calling barracks 9 and getting barracks 2. Quiet hours are probably different from that of other dorms; they are 4 a.m. to 6 a.m.

Activities during the past year included all forms of recreation. During the school year tournaments are held in ping pong, checkers, chess, pinochle, and pool. During the fall term residents participated in a tug of war between the odd and even numbered barracks. In 1958 the odd numbered barracks won the event. Also in the fall, a picnic is held for residents to become acquainted. At Christmas they donated funds and purchased food for four families in Carbondale. In the spring of 1958 their booth collected the most money at Spring Festival Midway. In the spring of 1959 they held their dance at The Haven.

Southern Acres, housing 250 students, is a part of SIU although it is located 13 miles from campus. It has its own activities, but participates in campus events as well.

Their big event is the Miss Southern Acres contest open to all SIU female students. The winner of this contest represents Southern Acres in the Miss Southern competition.

Southern Acres has its own intramurals and also participates with campus teams. They have a wrestling room with a punching bag to "keep in shape." However, they look forward to the new recreational facilities that are planned for this fall.

During this year a tutoring system was set up in which students volunteered their time and abilities to tutor fellow students at no charge.

Woody Hall

A trip to the Windy City for Nasreen Mirza and Mary Carandrea, students who had never seen Chicago, was sponsored by funds raised from Woody Hall's Christmas Dance. Woody Hall also won second place with their Christmas House decorations of the Nativity scene.

A Glee Club, organized this year, sang at different events held in the dorm. Members of the Hall also composed a dorm song to be sung at Hall functions.

During November, Mrs. Carolyn Pennington resigned as head resident at Woody. The position was filled by Mrs. Mabel Pulliam of the Housing Office.

A-2 section won the trophy for the best floor decoration at the open house, which was held on Parent's Day. The traveling trophy will be awarded to the floor which is the winner of the open house decorations each year, and will become permanent if any group wins it for three consecutive years. A-2's theme was "Under the Sea." Other themes were "Slaughter on 10th Avenue," "Dreamland," "Around the World in Eighty Days," and "Hawaii."

Woody Hall Council meets to discuss hall policy.

Thompson Point

Residents of Thompson Point, the largest living group on campus, worked together as a unit and separately as dorms to make their group one of the strongest on campus. Bailey Hall won first for Midway booth, honorable mention for both Homecoming float and decorations, and first for Christmas decorations. Pierce Hall won first for Homecoming float and Bowyer Hall won honorable mention for Homecoming decorations. The group as a whole sponsored street dances, a Halloween Dance, the Snoball Formal, mixers during winter quarter, a game tournament, the Miss Thompson Point Queen Contest and Dance, and an ice skating party. Residents also remember a tug-of-war that ended with half the men at the Point covered with mud, the mad bomber, a panty raid, the lake filling up, girls swimming in November, a raft made from a cement mixer, parking violation warnings, studying in the cafeteria, and countless hours spent playing cards, dancing, and talking at the Snack Bar. Because of the numerous activities and isolation from the rest of campus, Thompson Point is a community in itself.

The Editor Thanks . . .

Producing the 1959 Obelisk for the students of Southern Illinois University is not a one man job. It never has been and never will be a one man job. Each editor, myself included, has depended upon fellow students, a fiscal sponsor, a printer's representative, photographers, and an engraver's representative.

Many persons were responsible in producing the 1959 Obelisk. Over 3,700 students and faculty are pictured in one place or another in the book; there are over 200 group pictures, 1,500 individual pictures and numerous other pictures. 5,100 books were printed this year making a total weight of 25,000 pounds or 12½ tons.

To produce the 320-page book that you are now holding, I had to depend on many people, especially Dr. Donald R. Grubb, my fiscal sponsor, to whom I would like to express my gratitude. He kept a watchful eye on me, and carried the battle on the business front. I would like to thank Marian McBride, Ron Rathberger and Ron Vaskie, my associate editors, who were my main supports, for doing the impossible. They sacrificed many of their evenings and Saturdays. Thanks to Donna Jo Falkenstein, now Mrs. Gordon Wait, who was an associate editor spring term, in planning the 1959 Obelisk. Thanks to Dr. William Horrell and the photographers of the SIU Photo Service, who did the photographic work of the book.

Thanks to the people off-campus who helped: Norman Semmelroth of the Record Printing & Advertising Co., who printed the book; George M. Floyd of G. R. Grubb & Co., who made the engravings; Don Nauman of Nauman's Studio and D. V. Neunlist of Neunlist's Studio, who photographed the individual class pictures.

Also, thanks to the students who did the routine but necessary tasks of typing, office work, mounting pictures and many other things too numerous to mention; without them the 1959 Obelisk would never have been a reality.

Again, thanks to everyone.

"You See Yourself as Others See You"

How do you like the way you look?

Your picture in your yearbook is reproduced . . . exactly the way you look to the camera and your school mates . . . from fine copper half-tone engravings by Grubb.

All the photographs and art in your yearbook were printed from Grubb engravings . . . the clearest, most faithful reproductions of original photos and art fine craftsmanship can create.

Our people take great pleasure in helping to plan and produce outstanding school annuals. Preserving, in handsomely published form, the traditions of your school for your future enjoyment is a tradition with us, too.
